

Abstract

The invention relates to methods of separating substances from liquid media and to separating agents suitable therefor.